Tribute from Bruce Mitchell

Relation: colleague at University of Waterloo

I send condolences to Roy's family, and trust wonderful memories of his life provide comfort at this time. I first met Roy in August 1969 when I became a colleague of his at the University of Waterloo. Great memories for me are of Roy as a faculty member who was committed to and genuinely interested in students, who looked forward to teaching undergraduate students year after year, whose curiosity and passion about historical geography was so evident, and whose quiet but sparkling humour frequently surprised but always intrigued everyone.

Tribute from Carl and Mary Ertel

With prayers,

Tribute from Paul Totzke

Relation: Teacher and Friend

I was a friend of Roy Officer's sons and he was a Professor of mine at the University of Waterloo. He was the first environmentalist I ever knew, one of the best Professors I ever had and one of the most interesting people you could ever talk to. I remember his sense of humour, his eccentricity, his smile and the way he listened to you. I remember spending Christmas with him and his family in Nelson B.C. and I'm thankful I knew him.
